It occurred to me that I had never sorted out Uncle Charlie Grimsley's children for you.

GRIMSLEY, Charles Hugh b. Clarke Co MS Ca 1888

(I say he may have been born in Marion Co (now Lamar) because P. H. and Wm Harry were there in Jul 88 (Sullivan Kilrain fight). (Robert Parkin has him born 1881 (wrong).

Charles M1 Pearl Walker Clarke Co MS 10/2/1909

They had 4 children before she died (I don't know where buried)

GRIMSLEY, Velma b. _____ Co, MS 7/25/1910

m. Clifford Johnson (native of Marion (now Lamar) Co They probably married in Greene Co around 1925-26. Clifford lost a leg in a train accident. He then became a barber and ran a barber shop on Market St in Hattiesburg for over 50 years. He retired around 1985 and died in 1987 at age 86.

~~Clifford and Velma's children~~

After death of Clifford, Velma moved to Cleveland, TN where her 2 daughters live. Both girls married Church of God ministers. I do not know their husbands' names but I will work on it. (Girls: Juanita, Joyce)

2 Sons: Clifford Jr - a hospital administrator in North MS
Wayne - Some type management job with Miss Power and Light Co in North MS.

2 GRIMSLEY, Hugh Haskell b. 10-30-11 _____ Co, MS d. 1982. Parkins says he married Susan Cockrell but I knew her as Truscilla. They had 7 or 8 children. Some are in New Orleans. I only know the two that are in Hburg. Lucille married John D. Norris (several ch & gr ch) James Elmer m., Barbara Graham (several ch)

3 GRIMSLEY, Helen b. _____ MS Ca 1913. m. Howard Lee. Had 7-8 children. Lived in Sunrise community. Helen and Howard both died in 1970s.

4 GRIMSLEY, Claude C b. _____ Co, MS Mar 1917 d. CA 1960 m. Lucille Wigley, Forrest Co, MS 1940. She died 1950s. They had several children. He d. _____ buried Gulfport

Uncle Charlie m2 Betty Carr Greene Co, MS Ca 1924
She died in 1980s. Both are buried Gulfport, MS
Their children:

5 GRIMSLEY, James Allen b. Ca 1927 m. _____ Retired from USAF. Works Ingall shipyard, Pascagoula, MS Lives Harrison Co, MS. Several children.

GRIMSLEY, Mary Alice b. Forrest Co, MS Ca 1930
m. _____ lives Harrison Co, MS. Has 3 sons.

7 GRIMSLEY, Nathan Herschel b. Forrest Co, MS Ca 1932
m. Edwina _____. Has at least 1 child.
Works Ingall shipyard, Pascagoula, lives Jackson Co, MS

4 GRIMSLEY, Charles Hugh Jr b/ Forrest Co, MS b/ 12/26/33

Natchez, William S. Lovell, Captain, was needed at once at Pensacola. Ordered to Pensacola, where general orders of April 30 announced that Captain Lovell's independent company of cavalry had been received into the service of the Confederate States. See English's Battery.

SMITH'S-TURNER'S BATTERY.

Organized July 1, 1861; in active service from August, 1861.
Captains—Melancthon Smith, promoted; William B. Turner.
First Lieutenant—A. G. Hough.
Junior First Lieutenant—John G. Dables.
Second Lieutenant—Joseph W. Eckford.

The company was first organized as the Chickasawhay Desperadoes of Clarke County, Captain James S. Terrall, April 24, 1861, for infantry service, original roll, 51. Consolidated with company raised by Captain Smith, commissioned July 14. Smith was a native of Alabama, graduate of West Point, who had resigned from the United States Army, in 1854, after nine years' service.

Captain William B. Turner entered the Confederate service April 24, 1861, as a private of infantry, promoted First Lieutenant; commissioned Captain May 2, 1863, for skill and valor. His battle record was Belmont, Shiloh, Perryville, Murfreesboro, Chickamauga, Missionary Ridge. First Lieut. Chandler S. Smith entered the service as Second Lieutenant of infantry, April 24, 1861. Second Lieutenant W. W. Henry as Sergeant of infantry same date, Second Lieutenant B. T. Harman as Sergeant same date. Lieut. C. LeB. Ingraham killed at Chickamauga.

The battery was with General Clark at Union City, Tenn., August 5, 1861, was ordered to report to General Pillow at New Madrid. In October it was attached to Colonel Stephens' Brigade of Cheatham's Division in Polk's army at Columbus, Ky. When General Grant landed a force to attack the Confederate post at Belmont, on the Missouri shore, November 7th, Smith's Battery was ordered to the river bank, where it opened upon the Federals across the river. General Polk reported that he was particularly indebted for victory to Captain Smith, of the Mississippi battery, and to Major A. P. Stewart, who directed the artillery in the fort.

After the retreat to Corinth the battery continued with Cheatham's Division. Col. George Maney succeeding to command of the brigade.

At the battle of Shiloh, April 6-7, the battery had 120 men and 6 guns engaged, 1 man killed and 13 wounded, lost 23 horses, 3 guns and 5 caissons, but took 5 guns on the first day. It happened that General Cheatham encountered the left of the line of General Sherman, reinforced by Hurlbut's Division, which marched up to Sherman's position through the remnants of Prentiss' Division streaming to the rear, and consequently Cheatham had the most determined opposition found on the field that day. He brought up Smith's guns to oppose Hurlbut's Artillery, and the Mississippians unlimbered and came into battle with the utmost promptness, under a fire that disabled some of their horses. Their first shot stampeded one of Hurlbut's Batteries (Myers' of Ohio) but Ross' Michigan Battery made a gallant fight and was a worthy antagonist of Smith during an artillery duel of an hour, in which the Michigan company lost 50 killed and wounded. When Breckenridge came up and went into line on the right of Cheatham, a charge was attempted across an open field against the Federal line, but the Confederates were driven back with heavy loss. Later in the day, when Breckenridge had pushed around to the flank of the Federal line, a second assault was successful and Hurlbut fell back toward the river. In the course of his retreat Miller's Mississippi Cavalry made a dash and captured the Michigan Battery before it could unlimber—at least four of the guns and 27 men as stated in the Federal reports. "Capt. Melancthon Smith's Light Battery did splendid service," General Cheatham wrote, "and Captain Smith and his officers were distinguished examples of gallantry. Casualties, killed, 2. Smith's Battery fought gallantly through the second day also when victory was with the Federal troops. Cheatham held from morning until after 2 o'clock, when he was ordered to retire from the position he had gained, and was supported effectively by Lieutenant Eckford, of Smith's Battery, with two guns of the battery.

Lieut. W. B. Turner, commanding, in battalion of artillery under Maj. Melancthon Smith, attached to Cheatham's Division, Polk's Corps. In the battle of Chickamauga, September 19-20, 1863, Turner had four 12-pounder Napoleon guns, served them at short range, fired 220 rounds and did great execution, at a loss to the battery of 2 killed and 5 wounded, and 2 horses killed. They crossed the Chickamauga on the 19th, with Maney's Brigade, marched to the north and went into battle where Forrest's Cavalry was attacking the left flank of General Thomas on the Chattanooga road. The place was one of great confusion and danger and in obedience to orders Turner posted three guns on a hilltop to the rear, which then became, because of his occupancy of the position, one of the chief historic spots of the field. One gun, under First Lieutenant Smith, remained with Maney's Brigade, which was driven back in a shattered condition. Maney reported: "My advance gun, under the immediate command and efficient management of Lieutenant Smith, after covering the retreating line with several well-directed shots at short range, was withdrawn to the hilltop and took position with the other three, the battery, by order of the Division General, being retained there with the line formed to check the enemy's advance." "The battery was the rallying point of the division of Cheatham, who reported that Jackson's and Smith's Brigades were now advanced to the right and left of Turner's Battery. "The enemy, flushed with a supposed victory, boldly advanced upon my line, and coming within short range was checked and forced back in disorder by the well-directed discharges of shell and canister from the guns of Turner's Battery." In his report of that day's battle Cheatham made personal reference to this, "I cannot forbear to refer to the important service rendered by Lieut. William B. Turner, commanding battery. Posted on an elevation commanding the approach of the enemy, he used his advantage with great effect and displayed a degree of efficiency in the service of his guns highly commendable to himself, his officers and men, and accomplished a result the importance of which it is difficult to estimate." The division rested quiet under the protection of Turner's guns until ordered into the fatal night attack. Maney proudly mentioned his "four as good guns, and in my judgment, as gallantly and efficiently manned and served as any our service can boast." Three times, he said, the Union lines were shattered by the artillery fire, and this conduct was but a repetition of what Turner and his men had done at Perryville and Murfreesboro.

After the siege of Corinth the battery accompanied Bragg's army to Chattanooga. In the organization of August 18-20, 1862, attached to Maney's Brigade of Cheatham's Division, Polk's right wing, Army of the Mississippi, Capt. Melancthon Smith was made Chief of Artillery, and the battery was commanded by Lieut. W. B. Turner. The battery accompanied the army in the Kentucky campaign, and at the battle of Perryville, October 8, 1862, had 4 wounded. The battery was placed on a hill on the extreme right, overlooking the Federal line of battle, and Turner opened an enfilading fire at a distance of 250 or 300 yards, with canister and shell, until the Federals fell back, when the Confederate infantry captured the battery which had been replying to Turner. That night Turner and his men took their horses to the front and brought off seven pieces of artillery that had been captured. Under the command of Lieutenant Turner the battery, two 12-pounder Napoleons and two 12-pounder howitzers, took part in the battle of Murfreesboro. Maney's Brigade advanced to Laverne, where General Wheeler was stationed, December 26, and advised General Bragg that Rosecrans' army was advancing, whereupon Bragg fell back to Murfreesboro, and went into line of battle. In the battle of the 31st, Cheatham reported: "General Maney placed Turner's Battery of Napoleon guns in position near the brick-kiln, which in a short time silenced the battery on the east side of the road (Wilkinson pike)." This was the only one of Cheatham's batteries used that day (Wednesday) and it "did good service," Cheatham said. "On Friday and Saturday Captains Stanford, Scott, Carnes and Turner did excellent service with their guns, which had been advanced up the railroad by order of Lieutenant-General Polk," to assist in the attack on Round Forest. Turner reported that the battery was engaged four times Wednesday and six times Friday. "We drove back a line of infantry on Wednesday, and on Friday, in conjunction with Carnes' and Stanford's Batteries, were engaged with several of the enemy's batteries and drove back a column of their infantry." That evening, at sundown, Turner opened with his two light 12-pounder guns on an approaching column of infantry and repulsed it. During the two days they fired about 800 rounds. One man was killed, Henry Sellers, and 4 wounded. Smith was severely wounded as he was covering the retreat of Maney's Brigade, and Turner put in his place Lieut. C. LeB. Ingraham, who was killed in the fight that followed. "My battery fired during the engagement, which lasted one hour, 220 rounds of solid shot, shell, spherical case and canister. The repulse of the enemy was effected by my battery alone, as there was only an occasional shot fired by a few sharpshooters who had remained to support it." (Turner). On the 22d Lieut. W. W. Henry's section was the first to take position on Missionary Ridge, opposite Chattanooga, and that night the entire battery moved over the ridge to the place assigned them in the line of siege. The casualties of the 19th were 2 killed and 4 wounded. The battery was not in action on the 20th. Private F. H. Hendrix, killed, was named in the Roll of Honor.

In December, 1863, after the battle of Missionary Ridge and retreat to Dalton, Turner had been promoted to Captain. Present for duty, 107. Early in 1864 Lieutenant Smith was on detail as Regimental Adjutant. He had once been passed for promotion to Captain, was again recommended for promotion. March 29, 1864, four Napoleon guns, 89 men present for duty.

During the Atlanta campaign, 1864, Col. Melancthon Smith commanded the artillery of Hardee's Corps, Hoxton commanded the battalion, Captain Turner commanded the battery.

September, 1864, Captain Turner commanding the battalion, Lieutenant Henry the company. In the Franklin-Nashville campaign, Colonel Smith, commanding artillery of Cheatham's Corps, battalion commanded by Captain Turner. March, 1865, Colonel Smith commanding right wing defenses of Mobile, Captain Turner commanding the company.

If B. E. of Eight Mile who is the grand daughter of Rosalie Isabel Witter Grimsley will call Robert Zietz at 434-7093, he will put you back in touch with Bessie Randall of Pascagoula. Bessie seems to have lost your name and address and has some further information she wants to impart to you.

Bessie Randall
6412 Canty St.
Pascagoula, MS 39567
(601) 762-0949

Dear Bessie,

Thank you for trying to contact me with additional information about my great-grandfather, Wm. D. Grimsley. My asthma has worsened and we are moving to Salmon, Idaho by the end of March. Until then, my address is Route 9, Box 68-A, EIGHT MILE, ALA. 36613.
(205) 675-8214. Hope you received the package I sent you when we first talked.

Please contact me, and I will exchange any additional info, if I hear off that you lack.

Thanks again -

Belle Endland

Casket girls arrived on the Balino in 1721 & 1722. 80 to 96 - were in fact
Casket girls. 80 Casket girls arrived in 1719
& removed to Bilaji with the colony.

Women <sup>were</sup> in hospitals & houses of corrections.
Some were sent to prison for selling seed (black market) to feed families.

Some were prostitutes some innocent & of the poor - The King had no mercy on poor.
The prisons of (Bourgeois, Meakins, Tours, & Paris were the sources of the demand for population of the colonies in the New World. These began to arrive in 1717. First Convoy was on the Les Deux Freres in July 1719.

The majority coming from the house of force ~~from~~ at Salpetriere (Salpetriere was an asylum in Paris for mentally ill and aged women today.) In 1700's many were put there for living on street as well as being accused of minor offenses.

There were 3 criminals among this group that came from Paris. One attempted murder, prostitution & bad conduct.

Les Deux Freres (ship) left Paris in Feb in 1719

One could be put in prison then, for speaking out against the king, or stealing as little as a loaf of bread.

Dear Jean E. Ben.

It seems I've been out of circulation for ages, Genealogically speaking.

Remember, once I was inquiring about the Grimsley girl in Clark co. Miss. in the James K. Pope household 1880. Census age 20 I thought her name Solista or Salina? At closer look we see her name was Sarah. Her parents of Robeson co N.C. were on the 1860 Census Clark co. Miss (Enterprise)

I'm beginning to speculate did my Wm H. Grimsley die in a hospital from wounds after 1866. or did he go to the Soldiers Home at Biloxi, where my g.f. Joe P. Sanders died destroyed during hurricane, Camille!

Percy, also said he had seen other counties with 1866 census. and I wrote to Miss Archives for 1866
Clark co - they wrote back that no 1866 census for Clark co existed!
He was so overjoyed at finding this, and to share with me,
I think I've found William (P.H.)

household of one John Grimsley whom I thought was Wm (P.H.)'s brother John J.

or after pally I know not!)
ggpa Joe P. told us many tall stories!
He spent the summer with us when I was 11 1926, He often visited.

It seems he said he was in 3 wars (Battles?) If he born 1827 (as the family said) He could have been in TX, Spanish Am. War 1898. If I could only remember! I have not checked either war records except Civil War. He was ~~even~~ wounded 3 times. So that could be my ans.

Only meant to write a short note and got off on a tangent! Sorry, if only I could learn to be brief.
Too late now! at my age.

My hubby 84 to be 85 in march.
He has always kept young & in good health. He enjoys working in garden and fishing. However, he, like me is getting slower & chuckle.

Do trust you both are well and happy. Do let me hear

PHYSICIAN'S CERTIFICATE OF DEATH

Physicians are reminded of the importance of filling out these certificates promptly and accurately, as they are the basis of the Mortuary Statistics of the City. Attention is called to the following law, not from the Ordinance, but from the Registrar, which supercedes all Certificates of Death. In any case where a physician is called upon to certify the death of a person, he shall give a certificate containing the following information: (1) The name of the deceased; (2) The date of death; (3) The place of death; (4) The cause of death; (5) The name of the physician; (6) The name of the hospital or institution where the death occurred; (7) The name of the funeral home or undertaker; (8) The name of the person who attended the deceased; (9) The name of the person who attended the deceased; (10) The name of the person who attended the deceased. The form of certificate and instructions thereon shall be furnished to the physician by the Registrar. The certificate shall be returned to the Registrar by the physician, and the Registrar shall be responsible for its filing. In proper case, it shall be made up to the family provided in section 10 of the Ordinance.

RETURN OF A DEATH.

ARTICLE XII.—THE REGISTRATION OF DEATHS AND BIRTHS.

SECTION 8. Be it Further Ordained. That the Health Officer shall keep a book, to be entitled, "The Register of Deaths," in which he shall make a registration of all deaths occurring in the Port, under such regulation as may be prescribed by the Board of Health. That he shall supervise all certificates of death, to see that they are properly made out; the form of the certificate and the nomenclature of the disease to be such as may be prescribed by the Board of Health. That if the certificate is in proper form, he shall issue a permit authorizing the removal or burial of the body of the dead person; and without such permit no person who may die in the Port of Mobile, shall be removed or buried by any sexton, undertaker, or other person, under such penalty as the Recorder may impose, not exceeding fifty dollars. That if the certificate of death is in any way defective, he shall return it to the physician signing the same, for correction; and any physician failing or refusing to give such certificate in proper form, shall be liable to such penalty as the Recorder may impose, not exceeding fifty dollars. That in all cases of death in which no adequate certificate can be obtained from a physician, the Health Officer shall investigate the circumstances and make out the certificate required, except in such cases as may require the intervention of the Coroner, when that officer shall be duly notified. That no dead body of any deceased person shall be brought into the Port of Mobile from any other place, unless it is accompanied by a proper certificate of the cause of death; and if the death was caused by small-pox, yellow fever, or any other infectious or pestilential disease, not unless the permit of the Board of Health has been first obtained, under such penalty as the Recorder may impose, not exceeding fifty dollars.

SECTION 9. All the blanks on this form must be accurately filled, with ink, signed by the Undertaker, and delivered with the "Permit to Bury" to the office of the Board of Health, within twenty-four hours after the death of the person to whom it relates.

MRS. LUCRETIA ALEXANDER

Whether it's Smith, the Democrat, or Hoover, the Republican, who goes to the White House, the country will continue to "get along."

With this philosophy, Mrs. Lucretia Alexander yesterday brushed aside the subject of politics in general and the presidential campaign in particular to talk of the plans her relatives and friends are making for her birthday party Friday, when she will be 102 years old.

She was keenly interested in the photographs of the two candidates for the nation's highest honor, but rather than hazard a guess as to who will be elected she preferred to take comfort in the knowledge that no matter what the outcome of a residential election the country is generally managed to get along pretty well.

"Who are they?" she inquired with a glance first at the picture of Secretary Hoover and then at Governor Smith.

she remarked after the pictures had been explained as those of the two presidential candidates. "but we always have got along, whoever was elected, and I think we will this time. They say they are making a big cake for my birthday next Friday and you must come and help me eat it and bring me one of those pictures you are taking. I'll be 102 years old.

The fact that her birthday appears this year on Friday, the 13th, is nothing new in the life of Mrs. Alexander. She has experienced so many birthdays on that particular combination that it has become commonplace instead of something out of the ordinary.

Born July 13, 1826, the very next year, 1827, brought her birthday on Friday, the 13th, and in the more than 100 years which since have elapsed her birthday has appeared more than a dozen other times on Friday, the 13th.

Mrs. Alexander is extremely alert for a person of her age.

PLANS PROGRESS FOR FORMATION OF DAIRY CLUB

Another Meeting Scheduled
July 20 for Organization of County Cow Owners

Dairymen of Mobile county, nearing their goal yesterday in efforts to organize a cow testing association here to promote efficiency in the dairying industry, according to W. C. Vail, county farm demonstration agent.

First definite plans for the organization were made at a meeting last week when owners of more than 200 cows signed an agreement to become members if the necessary quota could be raised. Mr. Vail has been endeavoring to obtain the required number of cattle owners, then to join in the movement, because of other pressing business in his office he has been able to devote only a part of his time to the work.

J. C. Van Antwerp, owner of a large herd of cattle, who is taking leading part in forming the association, announced yesterday that confident of success as many dairymen now are taking cognizance of the benefits he says will be derived from the work and they state they are ready to discuss details of present plans.

Mr. Vail said he expects to have a sufficient number of members by July 20. That date has been tentatively set as the time for the meeting of dairymen if pre-organization work has progressed satisfactorily.

The purpose of the association, according to Mr. Van Antwerp, is to keep records on the cattle owned by members so they can determine which are more profitable. He said, it has been a matter of guess work to tell just what should be marketed and which should be kept for dairying purposes.

Tentative plans are to employ a special tester, probably a graduate of Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn to keep the records. In addition to this work, he will be in position to make suggestions for efficiency in dairy work.

When the Mobile association is formed, the officials expect to work with Baldwin county to lessen the expense of local dairymen. The association will be able to check approximately 35 cows daily. Each cow will be tested once a week.

Mrs. Leonard Levin and daughters, Hilda and Natalie, and mother, Mrs. Martin Freeman, visited Long Beach Sunday and returned Monday.

Maj. R. L. Glenn, of Barkley, was a welcome caller at the DEMOCRAT-STAR office Monday. We were glad to see him looking so well after recent illness.

Mrs. Eugene Joanev, of New Orleans, with her baby boys, Eugene and Lewis, is spending a few weeks with her nephew, Mr. J. A. Kathman and wife.

Mrs. Widow John Tarkel, accompanied by her charming niece, Miss Wilhelmina Colle, left for St. Louis last Saturday on a ten days' visit to relatives.

Phantom Social at Barkley.

On Thursday, Aug. 12, 1897, there will be a phantom social at the residence of Maj. R. L. Glenn, Barkley, for the benefit of the Sabbath school of that place. The ladies are requested to bring enough refreshments for themselves and male escorts. An invitation is extended to the people of Scranton and Moss Point to attend, and we know they will have a pleasant time.

On Tuesday night during the thunder storm Mr. W. M. Sheppard's family, who live back of the Methodist church, were severely shocked by lightning; also Mr. J. P. Labuzan and his negro driver were knocked from the seat of his wagon while driving on Pascagoula street on their way home.

Quite an acquisition to the pleasure craft of the Pascagoula river and bay is the steam yacht Washington, which has been brought here from Mobile by Capt. W. B. Spottawood and Engineer J. V. McKibbin. Her dimensions are 50 feet in length by 11 of beam. She has a carrying capacity of seventy-five passengers.

Last Tuesday Mrs. Iry Corlett, our next door neighbor, presented the editor with a well-filled basket containing peaches, pears, grapes, lemons and a dressed fowl—something Methodist preachers are very fond of, as well as editors. From the bottom of our heart we tender our thanks to this thoughtful and generous little lady. She knows what a hard time we "rural editors" have in this wicked and hot world.

The schooner Jas. H. Dudley, 300 tons, now being overhauled at Capt. Geo. Frenz's ship yard, was sold on Saturday last by her managing owner, Mr. F. S. Bowker, of Phippsburg, Maide, to the Moss Point Lumber Co., C. H. Alley, Gus Anderson and Capt. Fremont Cobb for $9000 cash. She is a fine vessel, being fitted up with a steam donkey and other modern conveniences. The Dudley will be used in the lumber trade between this and South American ports.

On Sunday last the staunch steamer Chicago, under the management of Mr. W. O. Clark, her owner, went on an excursion to Petit Bois Island. Those comprising the party were: Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Clark, Miss Lucy Brazelman, Misses Vac and Dell Sledge, Mr. Lemkin, Mr. Leon Troxler and niece, the Misses Aubin; Mr. and Mrs. Cornelish, Miss Jennie Lanber, Miss Benzen, Mr. Chas. Greiner and sister, Mr. Will W. Farnsworth, Mr. E. R. du Mont, Mr. Norwood Alley and Mrs. L. W. O'Connell.

Mr. Chas. Ferria went to Floala, via Brewton, Ala., on Sunday night last, for the purpose of letting the mail contract between those places, returning Tuesday. He had the following to say about the country: "I traveled through the valley of the Conecuh river some forty-seven miles, and on reaching my destination, you might say in the wilderness, I met the postmaster, Mr. J. J. McLellan, and recognizing each other as K. of P.'s, it is needless to say I was royally entertained. I saw nothing but timber, saw mills and lumber. The school system in Pascagoula led the over-the-top parade with a total of $1,172.71 to top a quota of $1075. Ingalls announced that $10,000 of the $14,520 has been raised and it is believed that the quota will be met next week. Ted Tyson, chairman, and Ben Dukes, business manager, are representing management and C. W. Earl and L. E. Stewart are representing labor. They reported that a large number of employees are contributing considerably more this year than before.

The office and administrative employees at Ingalls have exceeded their quota which was set at $1787 and reported approximately $2100 raised.

Cyril Slyfield, chairman of Moss Point, announced that the special gifts committee and store employees had raised a total of $2,430 by Thursday morning. The Jackson County Woolen Mill has completed its drive, he said, but the funds have not been turned over to the general committee nor a final report made.

Roy Givens, chairman, and J. W. Brumfield, co-chairman of the Pascagoula business section appointed group chairmen at a meeting Monday night. The quota for this group is $10,000 and the chairmen are: E. H. Barot; Jimmy Lane with Leo Rosenblum as co-chairman; Ed Wiggins; Clem Hays with Baylous Stokes as co-chairman; Max Dossett; Walter Barrill, Francis Titus and Annie Wimbs, colored; E. A. Parker with V. G. Hirth as co-chairman; E. A. Talbott; Nolan Hatten; A. P. May, small industries; T. T. Justice and A. F. Megehee.

Meeting In Pascagoula Tuesday

Mrs. J. O. Cole and Mrs. T. T. Justice, chairmen of the house to house canvass in Pascagoula, completed plans for their roll-call Monday night and declared that they believed the quota would be surpassed next week. Mrs. Hermes Gautier and Mrs. J. N. Lockard are in charge of the theatres, post office, sales people, clerks and all downtown business houses.

Sarden George, James Grimsley, Victims Of Crash

Sarden George, 69 years old, chief oyster inspector for the Mississippi Seafood Commission and a resident of Biloxi, and James Grimsley, 63, Gautier deputy inspector, were drowned last week when the automobile in which they were riding crashed through the railing of the Pascagoula River bridge at Gautier into the water.

The bodies were not discovered for nearly 24 hours and both were still in the automobile resting on the bottom of the river. Mr. George's body was partially through the torn top of the car, secured by one foot which was wedged in the front seat, and Mr. Grimsley's body was huddled in one corner of the front of the car. Neither appeared to have been injured and a coroner's jury at the inquest held Friday morning by Coroner H. A. Falls returned the verdict of accidental death by drowning.

Investigating officers were unable to account for the car swerving through the rail, a portion of which was driven into the radiator of the car.

Mr. George left home about 6 a.m. Thursday and picked up Mr. Grimsley at his home to go on a tour of inspection of oyster places in Jackson county. The accident evidently happened about 7:50 as Mr. George's watch had stopped at that time. Search began early Thursday evening after Mr. George's family became worried when he failed to arrive early in the afternoon as he had said he would and they notified

Housewives Are Urged To Salvage Used Kitchen Fat

Out of the frying pan into the fight, that is the role chosen for all kitchen fats which a home- maker has used to the limit. Fats that one time would have ended up in the garbage pail are taking a new path leading to a pool of tallows and greases which sup- plies raw materials for military, industrial and civilian uses. And the need is great, for the 1945 goal for used household fats is 250,000,000 pounds.

In Jackson county all house- wives are asked to send used fat to the schools that their children attend. Each rural school has been provided with a large con- tainer and when these containers have been filled the schools are asked to contact A. J. Franklin, county chairman of the fat sal- vage drive, who will arrange for the containers to be called for. Each school will receive credit for the fat collected at the school and will use the money netted from the sale of the fats for school improvements or other worthy projects.

All housewives who are not able to send the waste fat to the school collections are asked to take them to their grocer where they will receive two red points and four cents for each pound, Mr. Franklin explained.

Sources of fat as listed by the War Foods Administration for re-use or for salvage purposes are bits of fat trimmed from roasts, chops and other cuts, and melted down slowly in a frying pan or when the oven is on; scrapings from the roaster, broiling pan and frying pan; skimmings from stews, soups and gravies, and scraps of fat from plates melted

FOND MEMORIES — Former Sheriff James Ira Grimsley looks at a picture of the deputies who went into office with him in January of 1960. He recalled some of the significant changes that he made in the sheriff's department during his four-year term.

Former sheriff forged new paths in law enforcement

By TOM DONNELLY

Mississippi Press Staff

James Ira Grimsley of Pascagoula quite likely will be remembered by area historians as one of the most innovative sheriffs in the history of Jackson County.

Some of the changes he made during his four years as sheriff (1960-64) set the stage for much of the modernization in the sheriff's department today.

"I promised the voters that I would change everything in the office but the telephone number. I did, too.

"We were the first administration to put deputies in uniforms and marked cars.

"I also kept the sheriff's department open 24 hours a day. Before my administration, a trusty was on duty at night. Of course, the sheriff was on call," the 74-year-old Grimsley recalled.

He says Betty, his wife of 44 years who died in April, was responsible for him becoming sheriff, as well as important changes that he made in the department.

"Betty was a nurse, and she was loved very much. Here's a story that might be worth a chuckle.

"The night of the election ... after I had won ... I heard people in the crowd saying, 'I voted for Betty's husband.'

"It was her idea to separate juveniles from adults, which we did."

He was able to implement most of his programs, but still regrets two battles he lost with county supervisors.

"I went before the supervisors many times to see about establishing a curfew for juveniles, but I never could get anywhere with it. I thought it would have been a great deterrent to juvenile delinquency."

Neither did the supervisors pass an ordinance which would have forced parents to pay for destructive acts by their children.

He said the ordinance would have made parents supervise the activities of their children closely.

"But the supervisors wouldn't do it. They were too skittish. I guess they thought it would have cost them some votes."

The success of his Sheriff's Junior Deputy program and the success achieved by some of the officers who began their careers with him are among his fondest memories.

"More than 600 boys participated in the junior deputy program during the four years I was in office.

"To the best of my knowledge not a one of them ever got into trouble. It was a great program. I was sorry to see it phased out."

Former Adult Detention Center Director Adrian Wright was one of his junior deputies. His father, Harry Wright, was a Grimsley deputy.

His favorite success story is

Sheriff Ira Grimsley pictured in two-page spread in magazine

The office of sheriff was, along with coroner and ranger, the first county official to be made elective in the early days of Mississippi.

Until 1822, only the members of the territorial or State Legislature were elected. In 1822, sheriffs and coroner/rangers were made elective in the counties they served.

Bartholomew Childress who took office in 1824 probably was the first elected sheriff of Jackson County. He also held the office in 1831 and 1836. Records are somewhat patchy until 1898.

Holding the office since 1898 have been:

- C.D. Moore, 1898-1900;
- R.J. Loughridge, 1900-1902;
- J.D. Minor, 1902-1904;
- W.P. Ramsay, 1904-1908;
- A.H. Smith, 1908-1912;
- F.L. Lindinger, 1912-1916;
- W.G. Parker, 1916-1920;
- H.D. Cudabac, 1920-1924;
- A.W. Ezell, 1924-1928;
- John D. Lowe, 1928-1932;
- J. Guy Krebs, 1932-1936, 1940-1944 and 1948-1952;
- Broxton Wilson, 1936-1940;
- D.O. Newman, 1944-1948;
- Leo Byrd, 1952-1956;
- Owen Davis, 1956-1960;
- James Ira Grimsley, 1960-1964, who was the subject of a Life magazine double-page photograph taken during the Ole Miss crisis over admission of James Meredith to the formerly all-white school;
- Cecil E. "Red" Byrd, 1964-1968;

—Ben Navarrette, 1968-1972, would have been the first Jackson County sheriff eligible to stay in office more than one term but he failed to win re-election.

Until 1972, the sheriff also served as tax collector and the post was fee-paid. In 1972, the office of sheriff/tax collector was discontinued and the sheriff and the tax collector went on salary.

J. GUY KREBS was Jackson County sheriff for three terms before the sheriff was allowed to succeed himself.

—Fred Diamond was the first salaried sheriff and served 1972-76.

—John Ledbetter was in office for two terms, 1976-1984. He failed to win re-election in 1983 and was succeeded by the incumbent, Wallace Gill.

Mrs. Frances Rogers, the incumbent tax collector, has served in that office since 1972 when the collecting of taxes was removed from the sheriff's responsibilities.

Maples elected to fight stock law

Sometimes progress moves ahead too fast.

Darwin M. Maples of Lucedale, who has served as judge of the 19th Judicial District (George, Greene and Jackson counties) since the district was established in 1962, represented George County in the Mississippi House of Representatives during the 1952 and 1954 sessions.

"I was elected to fight the 'stock law,'" Maples told the Mississippi Press. "I was elected by the open range people."

The stock law would end the open range of livestock in the state and it was passed the year after Maples left the legislature.

"We knew it would end but we needed time to build the fences," he said.

As part of the holding game, he recalls, the open range advocates entertained the entire legislature with a barbecue held in north Jackson.

By the time it was over, he said, most of the guests were joining in singing "Don't Fence Me In."

AND SETS UP GOOD CHARACTER AS HIS DEFENSE.

The case of the State vs. Henry Browning, murder, was called in the city court before Hon. O. J. Seigues yesterday morning. The state was represented by Solicitor Leslie B. Sheldon and Mr. Telfair Hodgson, and the defendant by Messrs. J. J. Parker and Edward C. Tucker.

The crime for which Browning was indicted is said to have been committed in May, 1884, at which time the body of Peter Shad, alias Chillian Joe, was found floating in Dog river, perfectly nude, and with a hole in his breast. The body was taken out of the water and the coroner of Mobile county notified, but he not making his appearance to hold an inquest, a jury was empaneled among the residents at Venetia and an inquest was held on the body, after which it was buried. Nothing more was thought of the matter at the time and no foul play was suspected. In November of last year James and Henry Browning, father and son respectively, were arrested and lodged in jail charged with the murder of George Tarnobolt. In a preliminary examination before Justice of the Peace Fremont Throver, the defendants were dismissed from custody there being no evidence whatever to connect them with the murder. When the grand jury convened in November, however, an indictment, charging Henry Browning with the murder of Peter Shad, alias Chillian Joe, was found, and Browning was re-arrested. It was on this charge that Browning was arraigned yesterday.

A JURY WAS SECURED
In a short while and the case proceeded. The first witness called was John Peral. He testified that he lived two miles north of Venetia. Browning was born and raised there. Browning's father kept a store there before witness moved away. Witness recollected about the disappearance of Peter Shad, about five years ago. Shad worked for him (witness). Saw him last on a Sunday morning but never saw him after that. He was a boy, fifteen or sixteen years of age. Peter had also worked for Browning. Deceased was all right when last seen. The cross-examination developed nothing of importance.

Robert LeBeach, the next witness, testified to having known Peter Shad. He told of how he found the body of the deceased in the river. He found a hole in the breast of the deceased. The next morning the body was taken out of the water. The place was about a mile from where Browning lived.

Cross-examination—Thought the body looked like that of Peter Shad. There were no marks on his face, and no clothes on the body, only a pair of shoes. Found him on Wednesday. Am positive the body was that of Peter. It was in May, 1884. Knew Peter four or five months. He had been missing eleven days. He went by the name of Peter Shad, and was a man of twenty-five or thirty years of age.

He direct—Am certain about the month, but not about the year.

John Laney testified that he saw the body of Peter Shad in Dog river, and that it was badly mutilated. He did not see it on the day it was found. The ears had a peculiar shape. The body was in three pieces, a leg and one of the arms being torn from the body.

Stirling Towhee, colored, knew Henry Browning.

THE GENERAL COUNCIL GIVES THE MOBILE, JACKSON AND KANSAS CITY ROAD THE RIGHTS OF WAY ASKED.

The general council met yesterday at noon in special session to consider the report of the special committee to whom was referred the petition of the Anglo-Southern Construction Company for certain rights of way. Mayor Rich presided, and the following were present: Councilmen Baerman, Dase, Galliard, Gray, Hawkins, Patterson, Schelske and Torrey; Aldermen Fry, Goode, Kelly, McAfee, Sossaman and Stotiz.

The clerk then read the following report of the committee, submitting the ordinance published in these columns Sunday morning.

To the Hon. Mayor and General Council: Gentlemen—Your special committee to whom was referred the ordinance from the Anglo-Southern Construction Company, relative to right of way through certain streets of the city, beg leave to report that they have very carefully considered the same, and as the rights and privileges asked for in said ordinance are for the building of the Mobile, Jackson and Kansas City Railroad, your committee deemed it proper, that the same of Anglo-Southern Construction Company be stricken out, and that of the Mobile, Jackson and Kansas City Railroad company be inserted in its stead. This was willingly consented to by Colonel M. A. n. agent of the said Anglo-Southern Construction Company, and Judge Austin, one of the representatives of the road, who were present at our meeting.

Your committee having met several times, and after very carefully considering the whole matter, respectfully submit the accompanying ordinance and recommend its adoption. A. J. KENNAM, Chairman.

Alderman McAfee moved that the ordinance be adopted by sections, and the motion was adopted.

Sections 1, 2, 4, 5, 8, 9, 11 and 12 were adopted without amendment.

Section 3, on motion of Alderman Goode, was amended by the insertion of the words "between Royal and Water streets," after the words "and Esplanade streets." On motion of Alderman McAfee the words "or tracks" were stricken out, and the section adopted as amended.

Section 6 was, on motion of Alderman Kelly, amended by the insertion, after the words "curb to curb," of the following: "Also all bridges and crossings on the streets occupied, or crossed by said railroad company, to be built and kept in good condition by said railroad company, and built under the direction of the city engineer." The section was then adopted.

Section 7 was, on motion of Councilman Torrey, amended by the addition of the following: "Provided, however, that said Mobile, Jackson and Kansas City Railroad Company shall not be responsible for accidents or damages occasioned by the running of the trains of other railroad companies over the said tracks of said Mobile, Jackson and Kansas City Railroad Company." The section was then adopted.

Section 11 was amended by striking out the words "of the same" after the figures "11," and then adopted.

Mayor Rich then read the following letter for the information of the general council:

NEW ORLEANS, February 19, 1890.
Hon. J. C. Rich, Mayor, Mobile, Ala.: Dear Sir—Referring to the ordinance on this subject, I have given the matter careful thought and investigation, and have arrived at conclusions as follows:

The cost of the pavement exceeds that of plank, and to this cost must be added that for excavating and relaying the tracks in manner suited to the character of the paving. Unless the track be lowered there will evidently be no difference between the plank and the block system. In fact, there is no difference in any event. Paving, if kept in good order, with the firm supports afforded by the wide ties laid close together, makes as good a wooden pavement as the other. The fact that we are excavating and relaying the track support to the plant, may make this a character of paving the most economical to us. Here it occurs to my mind that possibly we are expected to join the movement in order to aid in securing the paving of other portions of the street.

I would say, with reference to this view of the case, that while we would naturally be

FATAL EXPLOSION.

THE TUG FLORA D. EXPLODES HER
BOILER IN WHITE-HORSE BEND.

ENGINEER GRIMSLEY AND HIS SON MISSING—ALMOST MIRACULOUS ESCAPE OF CAPTAIN MILLER AND PILOT ROWELL, WHO ARE RESCUED IN AN UNCOMPLICATED STATE BY RAFTSMEN.

About three o'clock Sunday afternoon the tug Flora D., while going up the river, exploded her boiler in Whitehorse bend, about thirty miles above the city, resulting, it is supposed, in the death of Engineer Thomas Grimsley and his son.

While the tug was proceeding up the river the machinery suddenly stopped and refused to work. The engineer thereupon informed Captain Charles Miller that he would have to tie the tug up and repair the machinery before they could proceed. According to Captain Miller's verbal statement to Local Inspectors O'Brien and Taylor, Engineer Grimsley, by the aid of a lever, turned the engine over, and was making an examination as to the cause of the stoppage. The captain got out a headline, and thinks there was a line out aft. Just previous to the explosion he had been talking with the engineer. After getting the line out at the bow, he started aft, and remembers looking into the engine room and noticed that the steam gauge marked a pressure of seventy-five pounds. He was about to tell the fireman to put down the damper, when he noticed that it had been done. This is the last that Captain Miller remembers. When he regained consciousness he found himself on a raft, where he was told that he had been picked up off the deck of the tug insensible.

Pilot Thomas Rowell stated to the local inspectors that the captain told him it would take the engineer some time to make the needed repairs, and that as they would have to run some Sunday night he had better take a nap. The pilot laid himself down in his shirt sleeves and stocking feet, on a bunk just over the boiler, and that is all he remembers until he revived and found himself on the raft. When he recovered consciousness on the raft he had his coat and hat on, but his shoes were still off, and he does not know how he got the coat and hat on. Neither the captain nor the pilot heard any noise of the explosion, and the interim between their last-remembered actions and their return to consciousness on the raft is a blank to their minds.

Captain Miller and Pilot Rowell left the raft at Twenty-one Mile Bluff, walked across the country to the Mobile and Birmingham road, and reached the city on a train over that road Sunday night. The pilot and captain were informed by their rescuers on the raft that the engineer and his son were missing, and it is supposed they were instantly killed. Pilot Rowell escaped without a scratch, but Captain Miller received slight cuts in the face and on one of his ears.

The captain and pilot went back to the scene of the explosion yesterday on the tug Toller to search for the bodies of the missing engineer and his son.

The Flora D. was built about two years ago at Gay's landing by Archie Campbell and Archie Knox, two Mobile ship carpenters, and was owned by Joseph Hawkins. Her boiler was built by Mr. F. J. Gibney, of this city, in 1884. She was inspected last on May 10, 1889, and found to be first-class in every particular.

OTTON-SEED OIL.

THE COMPOUND LARD BILL WILL CRIPPLE THE INDUSTRY.

FREDERICK HEAKES GIVES SOME INTERESTING FACTS AND FIGURES RELATIVE TO THE MANUFACTURE OF COTTON-SEED PRODUCTS AND THEIR VALUE TO THE SOUTH.

An interview was had yesterday with Frederick Heakes, the secretary and manager of the Gulf City Oil Mills, for purpose of obtaining some facts and figures relative to the manufacture of cotton-seed products and also to ascertain opinion as to the compound lard bill in the hands of the committee on agriculture at Washington.

Mr. Heakes expressed himself on the bill referred to in substantially the following language: "If the bill passes as proposed and becomes law there can be no result, and that will be the almost total annihilation of a distinctively southern industry, which has been in existence for the past twenty years, besides giving the West a monopoly on hog lard, which will result in the price of that product going far beyond the reach of the mass of the people."

"Twenty years ago cotton seed on the plantations was regarded as something of a nuisance and in many instances planters paid out money to have the seed taken off their farms. Now cotton seed is a source of revenue to the farmer and an inconsiderable amount is received on its sale. I had several planters in Arkansas tell me that the money derived from the sale of their seed would pay for making their crop, and in every instance the receipts from this source go long way toward paying for the making of the crop."

"The average cost of cotton seed for our mill this season has been about thirteen dollars per ton. Of this amount two dollars and twenty-five cents goes for transportation and drayage, so that the farmer gets at least ten dollars per ton. Our mill will crush this season ten thousand tons of seed, which means a hundred thousand dollars from our mill alone distributed this season among the farmers residing along the line of the Mobile and Birmingham Railway and in the counties contiguous to the Warrior and Bigbee rivers for a product which twenty years ago was considered worthless. In addition to this the mills at Meridian, Columbus, Demopolis, Selma and Montgomery draw their seed largely from the same territory as we do; therefore I do not feel that I exaggerate when I say that nearly six hundred thousand dollars has been expended in that territory this season for cotton seed."

"Its cost for labor and other expenses is about five or six dollars per ton to convert the seed into the manufactured products, so that our mill here will have paid out by the close of this season on this account, fifty thousand dollars. It is safe to say that this industry represents at least an annual expenditure in the South of fifty million dollars. Our mill discharges weekly, in wages, between six and seven hundred dollars, and every dollar of this amount is put in circulation right here in Mobile."

"Sixty to seventy-five per cent. of all the refined cotton-seed oil manufactured is used in making compound lard, and there can be no question as to the relative merits of the products and cotton-seed oil products when it comes to purity and cleanliness. During the discussion of the oleomargarine bill in congress it was shown conclusively that the compound in which cotton-seed oil was used was shown to be cleaner and purer than exclusive hog products."

HIT WITH A WRENCH.

STRANGER CLAIMS THAT HE WAS ASSAULTED BY A CONSTRUCTION BOSS.

Mention was made in THE REGISTER a couple days ago of an unknown man who had been found in the woods at Magazine Point with a wound in his head. The man stated when found that he had been struck in the head by a passing train, and from that source had sustained the injury.

Yesterday afternoon a reporter visited the city hospital, where it was ascertained the man had gone. The man was seen and stated that his name was William F. Lyons, and that he was a resident of Washington, D. C. Lyons said he was walking along the railroad track near Magazine Point and seeing a gang of men at work he applied for a job. He was told to go to work, and after being engaged for a short while, he asked what compensation he was to receive. He was told one dollar a day. This did not suit him and he quit.

Some time after he was walking down the railroad track, when he met the construction boss, Peter Keas. Lyons claims that Keas deliberately struck him in the head with an iron wrench, knocked him senseless, and after committing the act, walked off. Lyons said he could secure a dozen witnesses to the affair, and has already sworn out a warrant for Keas' arrest.

ENGINEER GRIMSLEY'S BODY.

IT IS RECOVERED AND BROUGHT TO THE CITY.

About two o'clock yesterday afternoon Messrs. Ben Thompson and Harry Shultz boarded the tug Anna, Captain Frank Lumsden, and went up the river to look for the body of Engineer Grimsley, who was killed by the explosion of the Flora D's boiler. They found the body about four hundred yards below the railroad bridge, which is thirteen miles above the city. The body was tied to a snag in the river and was in a good state of preservation. There was a large hole under one of the arms, which looked as though a piece of the boiler had penetrated the body, and the skin was badly scalded. The tug returned about seven o'clock last night, and the body was removed to Albia's undertaking establishment, where it was prepared for burial, which takes place to-day.

The Sheffield Excursion tickets are in the hands of the committee of arrangements, and all information wanted can be given by calling at the office of the chairman, Major S. T. Prince, or any member of said committee.

DEATHBED CONFESSION.

A MURDER EXPLAINED AFTER A LAPSE OF TWENTY-FOUR YEARS.

NORMISTOWN, Pa., March 6.—After twenty-four years the mystery surrounding the assassination of Dr. Joseph Levering, of Lower Merion, has been solved. The murder was one of the most noted of its day, by reason of the sensational features surrounding it. The veil has at last been lifted by the deathbed confession of John G. Henderson, who died in that place Tuesday evening within a short distance of the scene of the tragedy. February 13, 1866, Dr. Levering, who had been making a professional call, was in the act of putting away his team for the night, and, while coming out of the stable, the report of a gun was heard from behind a stone wall within ten feet of the door in which the doctor stood. The doctor's residence was close to Henderson's store. The unusual report of a gun within a yard of the dwelling aroused the family, and the lifeless body was found a few minutes after the shooting. The alarm and excitement drew a large crowd that evening, and every householder joined in scouring the neighborhood.

CHICAGO READY TO GUARANTEE THE OPENING OF THE SHOW IN 1892.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—A delegation of representative men from Chicago reached Washington this afternoon, and immediately afterward held a conference with a sub-committee of the special world's fair committee of the house. Chairman Chandler, after the conference had adjourned, both in words and manner, expressed himself as greatly pleased with what had transpired at the conference.

"They have satisfied the sub-committee," he said, "that they have a bona fide subscription, every dollar of which is as good as cash, of $5,250,000 to begin with. They have also satisfied us of their ability to easily raise the $10,000,000 guaranteed by Chicago. Altogether we are very much gratified at the showing made. The government was not asked for anything, and there was no suggestion that it should do any more than give its name to the fair, which it should do, as it is an international exposition, and that it should provide a suitable government exhibit, though even this latter was left entirely with congress."

Chicago representatives say that they had more interest in the government being worthily represented than had the rest of the country.

The conference, which was of an informal character, lasted about two hours, and was held in one of the parlors of the Riggs House. The time was chiefly consumed in an explanation of the financial situation by Lyman J. Gage, president of the First National Bank of Chicago. He said that in about ten or twelve days the fair organization would be incorporated and would begin work; but there was no doubt that as soon as this was effected it could quickly secure subscriptions for a million or more of dollars. This would make from $6,000,000 to $7,000,000, and was all that was necessary at present.

With this amount in cash, there would be no difficulty in raising by means of bonds or otherwise, the $10,000,000 which Chicago had guaranteed.

They wanted it expressly understood that Chicago did not ask any postponement. Chicago, it was said, could furnish her buildings and make the fair a success if held in 1892. Chicago would be ready at whatever date the committee set for the opening of the fair. If ten hours work a day would not suffice, then her people would work twenty-four hours a day.

Gage, speaking for Chicago, after the meeting, explained the situation. His city, he said, could provide her buildings and do all the necessary work before the government could erect its buildings, and before the states could take necessary measures to be represented at the fair. For this reason, it was left with congress to say whether or not, there should be some celebration ceremonies in October, 1892, and the fair proper not opened until the year following.

The preparation of the Chicago world's fair bill will be proceeded with by the house committee in the morning.
